Question: I'm looking at a candidates activity in the activity tab on their profile and I only see two transactions where their resume book status was changed a couple months ago. Does this mean that the candidate hasn't logged in or searched for jobs since then? Answer: The activity tab on the candidate profile page will not display every action taken by the candidate. It will only display certain candidate transactions; you can find these transaction types by scrolling through the "View Transaction Type" list on the Activity page.
